Making Connections

Working for our students to be safe, learning and growing.

One student at a time. Schools have always been a safe haven for all students, a shelter for our most disadvantaged students, a place for nurture, love and learning. We cannot predict what the future will hold. But educators, parents, and communities are rising to many challenges, and public schools are making connections each day with their students, families and broader communities.

www.publicschoolproud.org

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK 2021
FEBRUARY 22-26
Public School Proud

Photography by Allison Shelley for American Education: Images of Teachers and Students in Action, and Getty Images